

Dear classmates,

We are looking forward to seeing you June 5–8, 2025 to celebrate our 60th Reunion! It doesn't matter whether it has been 60 years, or simply a month ago that you were taking in the scenes on the Hill, we want to see you back on campus, and we are sure your Cornell classmates do, too! Should you be coming on your own, please remember that in 1961 we were all welcomed solo at Cornell and still are.

While there are many new facilities on campus, you will be amazed at how the old has been both retained and improved. Our class headquarters will be in a new dorm on North Campus—Barbara McClintock Hall. You will enjoy the adjacent parking lot, modern single or double rooms, air-conditioning, elevators, and bathrooms designated for men or women close to your room. Age does have its privileges! In addition, we will have a spacious gathering room for class breakfasts, which doubles as a wonderful place to just relax. University bus routes to events and class-arranged transportation will be available, as will accessible transportation upon request.

Our class will present two programs. The first is a panel discussion on the mental health and wellness of Cornell students. The Class of '65 Student Mental Health Fund has kick-started an extremely successful coaching program. You will hear from the talented people who proposed and manage the program as well as from our own Bruce Smoller '65, a psychiatrist with over 45 years of active practice and teaching experience. The second program is a deep dive into The 2030 Project, a university-wide initiative designed to bring ambitious climate research to impact on this critical challenge of our time. We know you will want to hear both!

Other major Reunion events include the State of the University Address featuring President Michael I. Kotlikoff, the always-interesting Olin Lecture, entertainment by the Cornell University Chorus and Glee Club, and, of course, Cornelliana Night, fraternity and sorority receptions, a memorial service at Sage Chapel, and, if you are up to it, Tent Parties.

We hope you'll join us for a Friday dinner at the Human Ecology Building with Corey Earle '07, who specializes in the history—both serious and fun—of Cornell, and our special Saturday night dinner at the Statler Hotel. The weekend will finish with a hearty brunch with entertainment by the Sherwoods.

Our goal has been to create a balanced schedule of class activities that leaves plenty of time for you to participate in campus-wide events or just hang out in our headquarters (with refreshments and hydration available day and night), along with the opportunity for good meals and lots of time together.

Enjoy the old, admire the new, and return home refreshed and inspired by this weekend at the scene of our youth. It's easy to register—just turn the page for more information. (Please note: registration is online only). Bring a spouse, bring a friend, or join our group of singles and celebrate your 60 years of being a Cornellian.

Liz Gordon '65, Reunion Chair

P.S. Please call two or three of your closest classmates and get them to join you. They will be glad they came. We promise a good time for all and look forward to seeing you.
